"I work at Mt. Sinai hospital in the child Psychiatric unit where children are admitted for various reasons (mostly severe behavior problems, depression, or mental retardation) and stay from one week to months at a time. The majority of these children are severely in need; many are in and out of foster care, do not have a family, are victims of abuse etc. - their psychiatric issues often stemming from these circumstances at home.

Needless to say, the children are suffering from many different problems and to be able to provide a better Christmas for them would be an amazing gift that everyone would be very grateful for."

Thank you note from staff member of Mt. Sinai:

"... I just wanted to write again and say thank you on behalf of everyone at Mt. Sinai for your generous gift. The children were able to celebrate the holidays with much more spirit and cheer because of your gift and they were incredibly grateful. Among the presents were toys, games, books, dvds, puzzles and many more fun presents that these kids would have otherwise never had and that also helped pass the time in the hospital over the break- which is always much appreciated!! Their stay in the hospital is never easy and I do hope you know that you were able to brighten their spirits and improve the quality of their time spent there over the holidays. Thank you so very much again, you and the foundation do such great works."
